REGIONS OVERDRAFT PROTECTION

How it works	With Regions Overdraft Protection (ODP), your checking account is linked to a designated funding account at Regions, such as another deposit account (including a savings or money market account), a credit card account or a line of credit.
Purpose	ODP may be used to authorize and/or to pay CheckCard and ATM transactions if your checking account lacks sufficient available funds. ODP may be used to pay checks, ACH transactions (such as direct payments and electronic bill pay transactions), and other items when payment of those items would overdraw the checking account.
Available funds in ODP funding accounts	While ODP may prevent overdrafts, it is subject to the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If the funding account is a deposit account, then all available funds in that account can be used for ODP. • If the funding account is a credit card account, the entire amount available for cash advances on the card can be used for ODP. • If the funding account is a line of credit (including a Home Equity Line of Credit, or HELOC), the entire amount available under the line can be used for ODP.
ODP transfers and fees	We generally transfer amounts from the designated funding account to the checking account in increments of $10. If the amount available for Overdraft Protection in the funding account is less than $10, or the amount available for Overdraft Protection in the funding account is less than the $10 increment that otherwise would be transferred to cover the amount of the overdraft, we will transfer the full amount available for Overdraft Protection in the funding account to the checking account. ➡ EXAMPLE: If one or more items would overdraw your checking account by $245 and the amount available for Overdraft Protection in your funding account is $250 or greater, we will transfer $250 from your funding account to your checking account. However, if the amount available for Overdraft Protection in your funding account is $248, we will transfer the entire $248 from your funding account to your checking account. We do not charge a transfer fee for Overdraft Protection transfers. If the checking account still has an insufficient available balance to pay an overdraft item even after we advance available funds from the funding account, we may return the item or pay it into overdraft. Depending on your overdraft election, if we pay the item we may then charge the checking account a Paid Overdraft Item fee of $36 per item. Funds advanced from a credit line or credit card account will accrue interest at the interest rate provided in the agreement for that account.

OVERDRAFT PROTECTION FEES AND INTEREST

Other fees	Depending on the checking account’s Standard Overdraft Coverage election, a $36 Paid Overdraft Item fee may be charged to the covered checking account if the combined available balance of the covered checking account and amount available for Overdraft Protection in the funding account are not sufficient to cover items that would overdraft the checking account.

Qualifying for ODP	To qualify for ODP, you must open or have an eligible Regions funding account* and enroll in ODP. Credit accounts serving as designated funding accounts are subject to credit approval. You should not assume we will use funds in the ODP funding account to authorize and to pay transactions on the checking account until we notify you in writing that we have processed your request to enroll in ODP. We may not make Overdraft Advances on your credit card account until your credit card account has been open at least 14 days, unless you activate the card on your account before that date. In that event, we may make Overdraft Advances after your credit card has been activated, even if 14 days have not yet passed. *Home equity lines of credit (HELOCs) secured by Texas property are not eligible funding accounts for Overdraft Protection.
Enrolling in ODP	Visit your nearest branch, call 1-800-REGIONS (734-4667), or log in to Online Banking to set up Overdraft Protection.

REGIONS STANDARD OVERDRAFT COVERAGE

How it works	We may provide Standard Overdraft Coverage on your qualified checking account to cover transactions that exceed the combined available balance in your account and any funds available for Overdraft Protection, if applicable. Not every account qualifies for Standard Overdraft Coverage, and even a qualified account later may temporarily or permanently lose its qualified status. Whether an account qualifies for Standard Overdraft Coverage and the amount of coverage we may provide can vary depending on several factors, including the age of the account. New accounts rarely qualify for Standard Overdraft Coverage immediately upon being opened, even if you already have other accounts that qualify for Standard Overdraft Coverage.

When we may provide Standard Overdraft Coverage	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Check, ACH and recurring CheckCard transactions – We generally provide Standard Overdraft Coverage for these types of transactions on qualified checking accounts. However, we may decline to pay these items into overdraft on an account, even if that account has Standard Overdraft Coverage. In that event, we will return the item. We will not charge a Returned Item Fee if we return the item. We also may charge Paid Overdraft Item fees when we pay check, ACH and recurring CheckCard transactions into overdraft. If you do not want Standard Overdraft Coverage on these types of transactions, please contact your Regions Banker. • ATM transactions and everyday (non-recurring) CheckCard transactions – If an account has opted in to Standard Overdraft Coverage for these types of transactions and has qualified for Standard Overdraft Coverage, we may authorize such items into overdraft. We will charge Paid Overdraft Item fees when these transactions are paid into overdraft. If an account has not opted in to Standard Overdraft Coverage for these transactions, then we will not authorize the transactions into overdraft. Payment network operations are such that, in some circumstances, we may pay an everyday CheckCard transaction whether or not there are sufficient available funds in your account to pay them. We will charge Paid Overdraft Item fees for ATM and everyday (non-recurring) CheckCard transactions ONLY if you have opted in to Standard Overdraft Coverage for those types of transactions. NOTE: We reserve the right to require you to pay any overdraft immediately or upon demand. We also reserve the right not to pay overdrafts.
